Something is happening in the atmosphere.

Over thousands of heads, a once in a ~~cent~~ ^{lifetime} event is occurring.

L ight from the sun is being eaten by the black moon.

A ll the same colours fill the sky like light through a crystal

R ed, blood like ~~spots~~ ^{spots} surround the moon like a ring of fire

E very one on the ground looks up in disbelief as it eclipses the burning ball of gas.

C louds, burnt by the sun appear like smoke arising through the air

L eaving the sun behind, the moon floats away completing its journey.

I t's like every colour has said good bye.

P eople start to go about their lives, almost like it never happened.

S adly the earth's source of light is lost alone.
